| 1 | This topic would have been more useful about a year ago. However it was good to hear what everyone is doing about aseptic technique. Very well presented.                                                                                                     | 11/9/2014 6:58 PM   |
| 2 | The time schedule was misleading.Needed to confirm with organiser as on certain parts of programme EAST time was stated                                                                                                                                       | 11/3/2014 7:53 PM   |
| 3 | Need to clarify on the preliminary flyer that the seminar does not actually teach aseptic technique (which is what I thought the content would be).                                                                                                           | 10/28/2014 11:33 AM |
| 4 | HCW are professionals and implementing ANTT you want them to act as such. Please do not refer to HCW as 'girls and boys'!                                                                                                                                     | 10/28/2014 11:29 AM |

| 6 | Excellent session. Possible start at 5.00pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 10/28/2014 10:30 AM |
| 7 | Well done. Good venue for any future educational events,                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 10/28/2014 9:15 AM  |
| 8 | The program start time was confusing . Different information from ticket / program.                                                                                                                                                                           | 10/28/2014 4:52 AM  |
| 9 | This was the first ACIPC education event I have attended and was only aware of it through the presenter providing me the information through other networks. Thought the format/information was well presented. Would like more information on future events. | 10/28/2014 12:23 AM |
